HOW WE MAY USE AND/OR DISCLOSE YOUR HEALTH INFORMATION

We will use your health information for treatment. For example: results of laboratory tests and procedures will be available in your medical record to all health professionals who may provide treatment or who may be consulted by staff members.

We will use your information for payment. Your health plan may request and receive information on dates of service, the services provided, and the medical condition being treated in order to pay for the service rendered to you.

These "associates" require your health information in order to accomplish the tasks that we ask them to provide. Some examples of these "business associates" might be a collection agency, answering service and computer software/hardware provider.

Communication with family. Due to the nature of our field, we will use our best judgment (ex: emergency situations) when disclosing health information to a family member, other relatives, or any other person that is involved in your care or that you have authorized to receive this information. We will ask patients 18 years and older to sign a consent to release information to anyone other than themselves.

Healthcare Oversight. Federal law requires us to release your information to an appropriate health oversight agency, public health authority or attorney, or other federal/state appointee if there are circumstances that require us to do so.
